Aspirus At Home Home Health

Our Services

The comfort and independence of being at home is the best medicine for people who have suffered an injury, are recuperating from surgery, or are dealing with a chronic illness.

When you or your family need health care in your home, Aspirus At Home will provide you not only excellent health care, but also a warm smile to assure you, a healing touch to comfort you, a listening heart to console you, and a competent, reliable presence.

You can be comfortable knowing that our dedicated and compassionate professionals are committed to your best interests.

Skilled nursing

Care from our experienced registered nurses will offer you peace of mind. With expert assessment skills, they provide diverse services including monitoring of medical conditions, wound care, intravenous therapy, medication administration and teaching.

Physical and occupational therapy

Your independence and ability to remain at home are the goals of our expert therapists as they work closely with you, your family, and your physician. Whether you are recovering from a stroke, surgery, fractures, or arthritis, our caring therapists will help you in your rehabilitation to increase your mobility and build your strength. They will assist you to re-learn how to perform daily activities such as eating, bathing, and dressing.

Home health aides

Our home health aides are committed to going above and beyond with the little things that mean a lot to your well-being. You will receive safe, thorough, personal care including assistance with bathing and skin care.

Medical social work

If you need assistance with social, financial, or emotional concerns, our medical social workers can provide counseling and locate community resources to support you. When your situation is very complex and requires coordination of many services, we can help.

You can be comfortable knowing that our dedicated and compassionate professionals are committed to your best interests.
